Any student who intends the fall term 2019-2020 to be his or her last term of enrollment in Yale College must complete this form and submit it by 5 p.m. on the day on which the student's course schedule is due at the office of the residential college dean.

majoring in _____, requests permission to complete the requirements for the bachelor's degree by the end of the fall term, after _____ terms of enrollment in Yale College. The following credits are to be used for this purpose:

- a. _____ term course credits earned in courses at Yale (including credits earned on a Yale term or year abroad).
- b. _____ term course credits earned in courses taken outside Yale. A student may not count outside credit toward the 36-course-credit requirement for graduation unless he or she attends Yale for eight terms of regular enrollment; see CREDIT FROM OTHER UNIVERSITIES in section P of the Academic Regulations, Yale College Programs of Study. Note also that acceleration credits may not be used to yield a fall-term completion of degree requirements; see ACCELERATION POLICIES, section Q of the Academic Regulations.

The signature of the director of undergraduate studies indicates that by the end of the fall term the student will have completed all of the requirements of his or her major program. The signature of the college dean certifies that the student will have fulfilled the distributional requirements, including the foreign language proficiency requirement, by the end of the fall term. The student should give this petition to the residential college dean, who will forward it to the Committee on Honors and Academic Standing.

COMPLETION OF DEGREE REQUIREMENTS AT THE END OF A FALL TERM

<http://catalog.yale.edu/ycps/academic-regulations/special-arrangements/>

Students who at the end of a fall term complete the requirements for graduation may be of three kinds: (1) those who complete such requirements in eight terms of regular enrollment; (2) those who have accumulated thirty-six credits or more, all earned at Yale, in fewer than eight terms of regular enrollment; and 3) students admitted by transfer to Yale College and students whose admission was deferred until a spring term. (Note that acceleration credits may not yield a completion of degree requirements at the end of a fall term; see section Q of the Academic Regulations, ACCELERATION POLICIES, in the Yale College Programs of Study. <http://catalog.yale.edu/ycps/academic-regulations/acceleration-policies/>)

1. The following rules apply to students of these three kinds:
  - (a) By the day on which the student's course schedule is due in the final term of enrollment, they must notify the Committee on Honors and Academic Standing through the residential college dean that they intend that fall term to be their last term of enrollment.
  - (b) Such notification must include written certification from the student's director of undergraduate studies that the student will have completed all the requirements of the major program by the end of the fall term, and from the student's residential college dean that the student will have fulfilled the distributional requirements by that time.
2. Failure to observe the deadline will result in the student's being charged a fee of $100.
3. Students who complete degree requirements at the end of the fall term are awarded their degrees and their diplomas at Commencement at the conclusion of the spring term of that academic year. General Honors and Distinction in the Major are awarded also at that time. If a student who completes degree requirements at the end of a fall term wishes to participate in the Commencement exercises held in the previous academic year, however, the student may do so with the permission of the head of college and dean. Such might be the case, for example, of a student who because of a leave of absence did not qualify for graduation with the class in Yale College with which he or she entered as a freshman. But as indicated above, such a student would not actually receive the degree or diploma until the May of the academic year in which the degree requirements were completed.
4. A student whose last term of enrollment is a fall term is eligible, upon application and payment of a fee, for continued coverage by the Yale Health Plan during the subsequent spring term, just as if the student were on leave of absence for that term. Such coverage extends to August 31. See Health Coverage (#3) in section K of the Academic Regulations, Yale College Programs of Study <http://catalog.yale.edu/ycps/academic-regulations/special-arrangements/>
